PROFESSIONAL DIRECTION

I am interested in communication that connects strategy, creativity, audience understanding, and cultural relevance. My work focuses on transforming complex ideas into clear and engaging formats, especially within cultural, educational, creative, and innovation-driven contexts.

Through my studies, freelance work, certifications, internship experience, and cultural event coordination work, I have developed a strong foundation in digital marketing, content strategy, brand communication, event communication, and visual storytelling. I am especially motivated by projects that combine research, culture, sustainability, community building, and public engagement.
